Loyd Auerbach is a parapsychologist and paranormal investigator. For the past 40 years, Loyd has investigated cases of alleged ghost sightings, demonic possessions, hauntings, and other unexplained phenomena. Some of his better-known cases include the ghost of a little girl haunting The Brookdale Lodge in Felton, California, the legend of a ghostly Blue Lady at the Moss

Beach Distillery in California, and the U.S.S. Hornet with apparitions of dead sailors. Auerbach has experienced what he believes are 2 personal out-of-body experiences in which he dreamed he was in another place, and his image was seen in that location by his friends.

He has appeared on television shows that profile ghost hunting and other paranormal topics and is the author of several books on ghost hunting, parapsychology, and other paranormal subjects.

Auerbach was on the Core Faculty of the Graduate Parapsychology Program at John F. Kennedy University where he received a Master's Degree in parapsychology. He serves on advisory boards of several institutions related to parapsychology and mediumship, including the Rhine Research Center, whose mission is to advance the science of parapsychology. He is the Director of the Office of Paranormal Investigations. He also serves on the Board of Directors of the Rhine Research Center.
