

Ceramic Slipcasting - Rice Paper Transfer Workshop (3-17-2022)

Ceramics Slipcasting is a creative art form in clay, but we're not limited to the simple basics.

Shown in these pictures are our resident artists who are attending a workshop, directed by Sylva Sheng, about rice paper transfer of color and design to our pieces.

We enjoy learning new techniques and sharing our discoveries with each other.

Watch our bulletins and notices of additional workshops and demonstrations. You 'll have fun experimenting with us! And, if you haven't started, we have Monday afternoon resident-to-resident classes for beginners, taught by Caryn Glasky. See posted information in the studio."

~~Written by Bonnie Baller

& Submitted to Globe by Gulshan Bhada

